

Seminar: Sydney, Australia, 8th September 2005

Agenda

Members of the international IT security thought leadership group, the Jericho Forum, believe that today's information security perimeter is full of holes and we need to develop a security architecture and design approach that will allow business to continue in an open, Internet-driven, networked world. The Vision and Mission of the Jericho Forum is to drive and influence development of open-standards-based security solutions that support "de-perimeterization".

In this Seminar we aim to actively engage and realize the known expressions of interest and support in Australia and New Zealand for the vision and mission of the Jericho Forum, and to convert that interest into direct contributions through email, Web, and teleconference participation in our various Working Groups.

Thursday 8th September
08.30	Registration &amp; coffee – Badges, Brochure, Information Sheets
09.30	Welcome, Safety Briefing, & Introductions Ian Dobson & Chris Parnell (The Open Group), Shane Tully & Dani Fernandez (Qantas)
09.35	Host's opening remarks Michael Mitchell, Head of Architecture Practice, Qantas
09.45	Jericho Forum opening remarks Nick Bleech, IT Security Director, Rolls Royce
10.00	The challenge YOU are facing - the problem in business terms - including case studies John Meakin, Group Head of Information Security, Standard Chartered Bank
10.30	What is the Jericho Forum? Shane Tully, Information Security Architect, Qantas
10.45	What has the Jericho Forum achieved to date? Stephen Whitlock, Chief Security Architect, The Boeing Company
11.10	Break
11.30	Jericho Forum plans - roadmap & deliverables going forwards Stephen Whitlock, Chief Security Architect, The Boeing Company
11.55	Why vendors are important – mutually beneficial vendor participation David McCaskill, Manager, IT Infrastructure & Governance, Procter & Gamble
12.20	Where could the Jericho Forum take us? David Lacey, Director of Information Security, Royal Mail
12.50	How to get engaged now Chris Parnell, Marketing Director, Membership & Services, The Open Group
13.00	Lunch
14.00	Working Groups in the Jericho Forum – their roles, and audience feedback Introduced and moderated by John Meakin, Standard Chartered Bank
14.50	Break
15.05	Panel discussion – speakers respond to audience questions and comments Moderated by Nick Bleech, Rolls Royce
15.50	Concluding remarks David Lacey, Royal Mail
16.00	Close Shane Tully, Qantas