

Forum Director for The Open Process Automation Forum

Remote Worker

$Competitive plus excellent benefits

We are a global consortium leading the development of open, vendor-neutral technology standards and certifications. We operate the industry's premier certification service for people and products, providing confidence that individuals have the required knowledge or experience and that products conform to open standards. An opening has occurred for us to recruit a Forum Director who will be required to grow and maintain member participation for our Open Process Automation Forum

If you're a self-motivated business manager looking to move into a challenging role, this is an excellent opportunity not to be missed.

You will have overall responsibility for the member participation in virtual and physical meetings. You will also be responsible for facilitating collaboration and gaining consensus to create standards, best practices and certification programs for one of our growing forums.

To be considered for this role, you must have:

- A BS in Marketing, Business Management or other related area
- Experience in meeting organization and facilitation, including virtual events
- Experience in industrial process automations systems, particularly in the petrochemical, pharmaceutical or pulp and paper sectors

You must have proven experience of organizing, motivating and managing resources of member volunteer teams and the ability to identify and facilitate compromise and consensus around blocking issues.

Please email jobs@opengroup.org for more information.